DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 9.—If Joseph Gross, of 609 West Dauphin st., Phila., serves all the penitentiary sentence that now hangs over his head, he will be 70 years old when he is discharged.

The 20-year-old convict, now under sentence imposed by Judge Harry S. McDevitt in Phila., recently, for a series of holdups in Philadelphia, was brought into the Bucks county court yesterday from the Eastern Penitentiary to plead guilty to three offenses committed in Bucks county.

President Judge Hiram H. Keller tacked on an additional 10 to 20 years to the sentence of 10 to 20 years that Judge McDevitt had imposed in Philadelphia, and the sentence imposed here yesterday is to start at the expiration of the 10 to 20-year sentence imposed by Judge McDevitt. All told Gross has a 20 to 50-year sentence to serve.

"We are running no chances in this case and the additional sentence imposed here is penalty for the crimes committed in Bucks county," Judge Keller commented.

Two Commonwealth witnesses called in the case yesterday were Trooper John Mitchell, of the Doylestown sub-station of State Police and Assistant Chief of Police Clarence Irwin, of Doylestown. The officers testified that on the afternoon of February 11 this year, Gross, together with Joseph Frank Barker, Edward Fox and Ross Ingram, all of Doylestown, drove to Bucks county in an automobile with the idea of holding up a place. They stopped at the Penn's Park Hotel where they decided that it would be unsafe to pull a job.

The disorders, culminating in the kidnapping of Western-sector German police who had guarantees of safe conduct, are designed to disrupt the Big Four talks. Secretary Marshall said. They follow a familiar pattern and must be firmly resisted, he added.

Although doubting that any "useful purpose could be served . . . as unless the Soviet Government has new proposals," the United States agreed to Moscow's request for a meeting of the Foreign Ministers' Council on Italy's colonies. Secretary Marshall said this country's position was based on a "bi-partisan" agreement. BRISTOL TEXTILE EXECUTIVE AND SON
CHARGED WITH INCOME TAX EVASIONS,
NEARLY $380,000; UNDER INDICTMENTBy International News Service*

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—A Bristol textile executive and his son, who formerly resided in that borough, are under criminal indictment by a Federal Grand Jury charging income tax evasions of almost $380,000.

The defendants are Joseph S. Talbot and his son, George E. Talbot, president and secretary respectively of the Talbot Worsted Mills Co., 30th and Reed streets, Philadelphia.

The father is accused of evading payment of $125,602.57 on his income for the years 1943-1944; the son is charged with evasions for the same years of $127,457.05.

In a third bill, the Talbots were charged with filing a false income report for the firm resulting in corporate tax evasions of $126,925.87.

A spokesman for the Internal Revenue Bureau stated the alleged evasions were accomplished by "concealment of sales" made by the company.

In all income cases, the alleged evaders face a "civil liability" in addition to criminal prosecution.

In proven evasion, the taxpayer is liable for the payment of the tax in full, and also can be penalized by imposition of a "fraud penalty" of 50 per cent of the amount of the tax he withheld, plus interest at the rate of six per cent a year.

In the Government's accounting of the alleged tax liabilities of Joseph S. Talbot, it is charged that in 1943-44 he paid taxes of $29,624.88 of 50 per cent of the amount of the tax he withheld, plus interest at the rate of six per cent a year.

The son, George E. Talbot, the indictment alleged, paid a tax of $32,540.35, whereas he should have paid $159,957.40 upon a personal income of $211,008.65.

The Nazareth development in Ethiopia is maintained by the Mennonite Relief Committee, with headquarters at Akron, Lancaster county. The committee receives support from almost every branch of the Mennonite faith in the country. The Nazareth development is rated officially by the church as a relief unit, but it is planned to develop a fully equipped mission.

Accompanying Miss Rush to New York to bid her bon voyage were Mrs. Allen Rush, Miss Mary Ellen Rush, Miss Catherine Fretz, and Mrs. George Hockman, of this place; Miss Grace Allebach, Sellersville, and Miss Grace Fretz, Grand View Hospital.

LOW BID TO REHABILITATE CANAL BETWEEN NEW HOPE AND POINT PLEASANT IS $189,000

HARRISBURG, Sept. 5.—It will cost the State $189,000 to rehabilitate an eight-mile stretch of the Delaware Division of the Pennsylvania Canal, between New Hope and Point Pleasant, Bucks County, according to the bid received yesterday.

The lone bidder on the project was the Conduit and Foundation Co., of 779 S. Schuylkill ave., Philadelphia.

If the offer is acceptable to the Department of Forests and Waters, a contract for cleaning out the scenic waterway and restoring it for use as a recreational area will be awarded by the Department of Property and Supplies within the next two weeks.

The bid was just $11,000 less than the $200,000 appropriated by the 1947 Legislature for the restoration work. Of the allocation, $64,000.80 has already been spent for the rental of equipment and a fee must be paid to Damon and Foster, engineers, of Sharon Hill, who prepared the plans.

The bid received today called for putting the canal's locks in order so they can be used once more in raising and lowering the water level, restoring the walls and rehabilitating the aqueduct at Point Pleasant.

The old canal is now a part of the State's park system. It skirts the Delaware for a distance of 40 miles between Easton and Morrisville.

Since 1931 the Delaware Valley Protective Association has been fighting for restoration of the scenic canal, which is adjacent to the homes of scores of artists and writers in the New Hope area.

The $200,000 appropriation bill was sponsored by State Senator Edward E. Watson (R. Bucks) and approved by the Legislature without a dissenting vote. It was signed promptly by Gov. James H. Duff.

Dublin To Have A New Central Dial Office

DUBLIN, Sept. 9.—The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania has started construction work on a new dial central office building at Dublin. The new central office, when completed, will serve subscribers in the Dublin area now served from the Doylestown, Perkassie and Plumsteadville central offices.

Sentenced for Series of Crimes in Bucks County

Then they drove to the home of Dr. Earl Twining, Philadelphia skin specialist, living at Chain Bridge, Bucks county.

The police testified that the accused stated that their intentions were to rob the Twining house and if they found anyone in the house to hold them up too. The Twining's were not at home and the house was robbed of household furnishings and personal belongings amounting to approximately $2,500.

On February 12, at 2 a. m., the quartet including Barker, Fox, Ingram and Gross returned to Bucks county from Philadelphia after dividing the Twining loot between their homes and other friends. On this day, police testified, they held up the Lincoln Inn at Trevose and robbed the proprietor, J. H. Stiles of $15 at the point of a gun and locked him in the office before returning to Phila.

On February 14, the same gang, according to Troopers Mitchell and Assistant Chief Irwin, returned to Bucks county with a James Ditter and Robert Gray, both of Phila. All six were armed as they drove about the Tyler Estate near Newtown, one of the show places of Bucks county. Two guards were noticed on the job at the Tyler Estate and the bandit gang changed plans and decided to pass up that place.

From Newtown Township the six bandits drove to Doylestown where at 5 o'clock on the morning of February 14, Assistant Chief Irwin and Patrolman George Harton noticed two strangers driving along Oakland avenue with a car belonging to Clymer's Department Store.

The officers stopped the car and placed the two occupants under arrest. The occupants were armed. A short distance away, near a gasoline station was another car containing the other four, including Gross, and all were armed.

The Doylestown police took the suspects to the Doylestown police station where they were questioned by Assistant Chief Irwin and Trooper John Mitchell, of the State Police, who was called in. The accused admitted the crimes plus a number of holdups in Philadelphia. In one of the bandit cars was a rifle that was stolen earlier from the Dr. Twining residence.

Gross was tried first in Philadelphia before Judge McDavitt to sentence him to serve 5 to 15 years on two different charges, the sentences to run consecutively—or 10 to 30 years altogether.

Yesterday's additional sentence added by Judge Keller increased Gross's minimum to 20 years and his maximum to 50 years.

Gross was returned to the Eastern Penitentiary immediately after Judge Keller's additional sentence had been imposed.

Warn Bicyclists To Obtain Licenses

LANSDALE, Sept. 9 — With the opening of school today, Chief of Police Kenneth W. Lear reminded owners of bicycles in Lansdale that those who haven't obtained 1948 licenses should do so immediately or face penalties established in Borough Ordinance 288.

Chief Lear pointed out that the licenses were due July 1, and have been available at the police station since May. To date, he added, only 450 licenses have been issued which is about half the number usually distributed. The fee for the license is twenty-five cents.

The penalties provided in the ordinance follow: First violation, impounding of bicycle for not more than seven days; second violation, impounding for not more than fourteen days; third violation, impounding for not more than thirty days. The ordinance further provides that licenses may be removed and detained by the police, and that a $10 fine, or one day in jail, may be ordered.

Chief Lear said that a bicycle comes under the State Motor Vehicle code, and must abide by laws which apply to automobiles, motorcycles, motor scooters and other vehicles. Bicyclists, according to the law, must obey one-way street markers, stop signs, traffic lights, single file, and parking regulations, he said.

Police will begin checking bicycles this week and offenders will be instructed to obtain their licenses.

North Wales Rotary To Purchase Organ

NORTH WALES, Sept. 9 — The North Wales Rotary Club announced today through its president, Peter J. Faunce, that it will purchase a $2,500 Wurlitzer organ for installation in the auditorium of the high school in December.

Mr. Faunce said that the service organization will bear the major portion of the expense, with contributions from businessmen of the area to defray the rest of the cost. A musical will be held in the high school shortly before Christmas, with outside talent. The organ will be formally presented to the school at that time.

Serving on the committee are Edward Ackley, chairman; Paul Stott, Herman Drutman, Paul Ebert and William J. Shellenberger.

The world-wide oil industry was started in Pennsylvania with "Drake's Folly," a 25-barrel-per-day well near Titusville.

RECIPES

Butterscotch Tarts

- 3/4 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup scalded milk
- 2 egg yolks
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1/2 cup nuts
- 6 tart shells
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 2 tablespoons sugar

Combine brown sugar, flour, butter or margarine and salt in saucepan and stir over boiling water until well mixed. Heat milk until it forms a skin and stir slowly into brown sugar mixture. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture has thickened a bit.

Beat egg yolks until light. Pour a little of the milk mixture over the eggs (if you combine them all at one time, you will cook your eggs too quickly) and beat vigorously. Now pour egg mixture into milk and cook over boiling water again for 2 minutes, stirring constantly. After it has cooled, add vanilla extract and nuts. Pour into tart shells and top with sweetened whipped cream.

PENNSYLVANIA FARM ROUNDUP

By Jack Ward
(L. N. S. Penna Farm Editor)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 9 — The protection of Pennsylvania livestock against the ravages of animal diseases is a year-round operation of the State Agriculture Department's Bureau of Animal Industry.

The Bureau, which runs laboratory tests for animal disease control, makes more than a million tests of blood and other specimens annually.

During one recent month, for example, the Bureau examined more than 55,000 specimens in connection with disease control activities, the department said, of the total, more than 68,000 were cattle blood samples tested for bang disease.

Nearly 2000 samples showed a positive reaction to the disease which causes abortion in cattle.

In its routine efforts to control the disease during the same month, the Bureau received reports from 800 herds comprising nearly 19,000 cattle. The scourge was reported present in only two per cent of the cattle tested.

Cattle supervised by the Bureau in bang control work total more than 767,000 in 76,000 herds.

Under the Bureau's individual herd testing plan are more than 13,500 herds of 279,500 cattle, while under its area testing program are an additional 488,000 cattle in 62,500 herds.

The area program is in operation in 45 counties.

Eighteen counties have been fully accredited as free of bang disease, while testing has been completed or is underway in 27 other counties.

Pennsylvania sportsmen as well as its farmers, have an interest in the State's Agricultural Conservation Program says Clyde A. Zehner, Chairman of the State Conservation Committee.

Success of the program means protection to fish and wildlife as well as the soil, he explained.

Terraces, contour fields and crossed hillides, by checking the run-off of heavy rains, results in clear running streams and protection of spawning waters.

Windbreaks and woodlots established under approved conservation practices will provide protection and nesting places for game birds, he said, while improved pastures will give added protection and provide habitat for feeding and propagation.

Wasted farm land gullied and stripped of topsoil, offers little food or protection to wildlife and is similar to a burned-over forest area, he added.

A KINDLY CRITICISM

(Contributed)

I'm not too prone to criticize, but only want to tell. The story that I know will click, if I tell it good and well. The story is about the riders of bicycles who off display. Their abhorrence of our many laws, which happens every day.

I have due respect for youngsters, but when they are at fault. And by their attitude endanger self, it's time to call a halt. Some years ago an ordinance passed and is still a present law. Forbidding more than one to ride and is surely without a flaw.

But the law is openly defied and often two and sometimes three. Are seen upon a single wheel it's dangerous all agree. Night riding, too, is much abused; surely the magician's wand. Has prevented any accidents, although hard to understand.

I remember when I was a boy, with autos far away. And the bicycle was invented, opposition grew each day. The laws were passed quite quickly and the bicyclist soon found. He could only ride at night, when an oil lamp to the front was bound.

Today the bicycle rider makes of life a common bet. When he bucks the auto traffic and the dangers would forget. It should be definitely understood, I would not want to see. The young people robbed of pleasures; they can count as much from me.

I rode a high wheel in my day, a safety bicycle too. So I know the joys of riding which nothing can undo. But I think the time has come, when to protect human life. The laws should be rigidly enforced, but without embittered strife.

I think our Police Department, in a most kindly way. Should reach these young offenders, before them the facts to lay. "It is better to be safe than to be sorry," it's been said. It's better to keep the children living, than to see them lying dead.

So may I appeal to those in whose hands the case may rest. To enforce the laws in a kindly way, thus prove they've done their best. While they go after the speeding autoist, noisy motorcyclists stay. May they remember the thoughtless children, who endanger their lives each day.

EUGENE, Ore.—(INS)—The Eugene chamber of commerce is probably the only one in the U. S. that office, 37,000. But a sign across from estimates the town's population at the railroad depot says it's 26,299.

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

BOYS' SHOES must be sturdy and should be smart! "Brentwoods," for boys wearing sizes 1 to 6, cover both these requirements. There are two especially nice designs—the wall-toe Blucher oxford, in smooth, dark brown leather, with medallion toe punch and straight tip. The second design is a wing-tip oxford in medium brown grain leather, with perforated tip. The price is most reasonable for quality—$6.45. Shoe Dept. Snellenburgs, (1st fl.)

"HOT DOG!" That's what the boys say when they see the grand plaid flannel shirts selling in the Boys' Center of Snellenburgs. They're the cleverest plaids I've seen this season and better made than many shirts selling at half again the price of only $1.99. They come in sizes 8 to 18, have two-way collars, in-or-out tails, and run nicely to blues, maroons, browns, and greens. There are two pockets to each, long sleeves, barrel cuffs. Don't delay buying one, two, or more! (3rd fl.)

JUMPER CHIC. The Sportswear Dept. of Snellenburgs is showing clever princess jumpers of faille, in black, brown, dark green, or gray. They are, of course, the new length, with skirts flaring, are zippered, and have wide shoulder straps. Very nice! These jumpers come in 12 to 20 sizes and, at $7.95, are well within young budgets. (2nd fl.)

LAUNDRY CASES are not only necessities for the kids going away to school, they make wonderfully convenient mailing containers for any and every household. I've used them over the years. The Luggage Dept. of Snellenburgs has an "Air-Way" laundry case priced at but $2.45. It is made of durable trunk fibre that is plastic coated inside and out to make it water repellent. It is reinforced by a one-piece steel frame, including cover, has two strong web straps and a removable address card. No tax. Good buy. (1st fl.)

STUDY HELP. Perhaps you can't answer all the youngsters' questions, and certainly the youngsters can't answer all the questions asked by their teachers, but you will all be helped to greater knowledge by having a really good dictionary in the house. At Snellenburgs you can get a dandy! The Book Dept. is now offering the new, up-to-date Webster's American Dictionary—containing 60,000 definitions, including slang—at the small price of $1.98 in cloth, and only $3 for a thin-paper edition! The size of the new Webster makes it easy to handle and of a size that can be carried to school on occasions. Not only is this a good dictionary for students, it is a fine one to have on the family shelf. (1st fl.)

UNDER-ARM CASES. The college and senior-high students like the professional appearance of under-arm leather cases. The Stationery Dept. of Snellenburgs has some genuine pigskin black beauties, white-stitched, zippered on three sides, priced at $8.50, plus the 20% U. S. tax. The cases hold not only papers, but have a generous depth that, without bulkiness, will accommodate books! These cases make splendid gifts. (1st fl.)

GYM SUITS for girls are in order. I thought you'd like to hear about those in the Girls' Dept. of Snellenburgs. Some good suits of regulation blue-cotton fabric, with or without sleeves, and with bloomers, are priced at $2.95 for sizes 8 to 18. Gym shorts, in a sturdy cotton twill, in brown, navy or green, are priced at $1.95—sizes 8 to 16. (2nd fl.)

PEA COATS are highly popular with the boys wearing sizes 8 to 18. Knowing this, the Boys' Center in Snellenburgs has a particularly nice fall group of "peas" fashioned from 32-oz. blue Melton cloth of 100% reprocessed wool. They have high tab collars, anchor buttons, and are exceptionally well tailored. There's a choice of wool or quilted rayon satin linings. These coats are good value at $10.95 to $12.95. (3rd fl.)

P.S. Do send clippings with mail orders when you can! Phone free (5c, 10c, and 15c out-of-town calls only). Penna.—EXT. 10160; Jersey—WX-1150. Shop located Market, 11th to 12th Sts., Phila.—through to 1125-29 Chestnut St. Be hearin' from you! Faithfully, FAITH.

Outlaw The Communist Party

—by—
SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

Nine states have outlawed the Communist party by refusing it a place on the ballot. A recent popular poll shows that the majority of our people, by a vote of 3 to 1, would outlaw it everywhere in the Union.

This question was debated by Stassen and Dewey in Oregon. There is a wide division of opinion on it—first, whether it would be constitutional; and, second, even if legal, whether it would be wise to do so.

However, considered, the use of the word "party" is a misnomer. The Communist "party" is not a party in the way Americans use that term. On the contrary, it is an agency of a foreign power committed to the overthrow of governments by force. Its leaders are sworn to follow the "party line" established in Moscow, Russia.

As a catspaw for a foreign power, it cannot claim the protection of our Constitution to overthrow the Constitution. To assert, as some "liberals" do, that the right of free speech may be used to destroy free speech is nonsense.

These "liberals" quote Jefferson and Lincoln and the Declaration of Independence as upholding the "sacred right of revolution." There is no such "right" today in the United States. Its moral basis does not exist. Our Constitution provides for its own amendment; our institutions permit any established party, or any new party, or any person to campaign openly to amend the Constitution, or to change our laws.

As long as these avenues are kept open, neither a legal nor moral base can exist for the use of force. The Declaration of Independence was signed, and the "Appeal to Arms" was made, only because all other means had failed. Our forefathers revolted from George III only when, as they said, there had been established "an absolute tyranny over these States."

It was one thing for us to throw off the shackles of a foreign tyrant; it is another thing to conspire to put the handcuffs of a foreign despot on our own wrists.

All of us Americans have entered into an unspoken contract with each other. The contract is that the winning of political power will never be used to deny the right of the defeated minority, itself, to achieve power. It is implicit in our free institutions that the minority shall always remain free to oppose the majority at the voting booth, and to defeat it, if they can. The power to coerce minorities does not exist.

Those who deny this contract, who would use power to crush out all opposition, who would use power to turn this country over to a foreign country cannot claim this country's protection for that purpose. We are not that kind of fools—yet.

It is time for some members of our new Supreme Court to learn what modern Communism is. In a number of cases, such as the Harry Bridges deportation case, the Supreme Court has overruled judicial landmarks of long standing, and has justified its rulings by legal sophistries which are totally unrelated to the tough hard facts of the world today. The court, on one occasion, even upheld, as against a California statute, the "right" of a Communist school to require its pupils to salute the Red flag under an oath of allegiance!

If the purpose of our basic law, to "insure domestic Tranquillity; to promote the common Defense; and "to secure the blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity"—if these words mean what they say, we have the lawful and moral right to defend our institutions. No government that fails in this duty can long survive. To use the blessings of liberty to destroy liberty is not liberalism.

BRISTOL HIGH SCHOOL ELEVEN GETTING OUT KINKS

After three weeks of taking the kinks out of their muscles, the Bristol High school football squad has been conducting hard scrimmages in preparation for its season's opener with Hattboro High, Friday night, September 17th, on the home field.

Coach Harry McClister has really been putting the boys through a tough daily schedule to put them in top shape for their inaugural contest. He is especially working on his backs to have their plays to perfection. Using the single wing formation, Coach McClister has fourteen running plays.

Twice this week, McClister called practice in both the mornings and afternoons in order to get his backfield to get their plays so that there will be no mix-ups. The Warriors' backfield is fast and capable of gaining much yardage. Several of the backs can run up large yardage once they're beyond the line of scrimmage.

Next week, Coach McClister intends to hold a practice scrimmage with another school team of this locality. This will probably be the final drill before the opening game.

Bristol suffered one injury this week when "Chuck" Long, a tackle, suffered a dislocated shoulder and will be out for the remainder of the season. This is the second time that Long's shoulder has been injured.

The loss of Long makes it tough on McClister as the tackle positions are the weakest on the team. He is depending on a newcomer, George Warchol, a senior, to fill in one of these positions. Warchol has never reported for football.

Two new guards reported for practice this week. Frank Milnor, a husky lad, who played with Township last season is readying himself for a spot while Merle Hinkley who played Junior High last season is also out for a guard position.

The local school is well fortified with ends in "Jimmy" Sottile, Marty Braam, and Graceon White. Sottile is a hold-over from last season and is one of the best pass-snatchers on the squad. White doesn't have much weight but what he lacks in weight is overshadowed by his grit. Braam was substitute end last season and seems to be working himself into a starting position.

Coach McClister and his assistant, Jerry Bloom, are pleased with the work of two aspirants for center positions. They are Val Bielecki and Ned Albright. Bielecki is a senior and although he played football in his freshman year, he stood out for two seasons. The agile Albright has moved up from the junior high squad and is one of the best line-backers that has reported thus far.

The high school coaches stated yesterday that there is still plenty of work ahead before the first tilt but the fans can expect a much better drilled team than last season.

The Warriors have seven night games in succession on its schedule and then play two Saturday tilts before their annual Thanksgiving Day morning game with Morrisville.
